

Rotarians Meet At Lake Mohonk For Conference

Sixth Annual Conference of Twenty-Ninth District Attended By More Than Six Hundred Delegates and Members of Their Families—Inspirational Addresses Mark Opening Session.

The Lake Mohonk Mountain House at Lake Mohonk is filled with members of the Rotary International of the Twenty-ninth District and their wives and daughters, who are attending the Sixth Annual District Conference which opened Thursday night, more than six hundred Rotarians and members of their families being in attendance.

Thursday afternoon was devoted to registration and renewal of acquaintance by Rotarians who held their annual conference there three years ago.

The immense dining hall of the Lake Mohonk House was completely filled when dinner was served at six o'clock. The singing of "America" opened the dinner, and the invocation was by the Very Rev. Monsignor John Reilly of Schenectady. The dinner was enlivened with plenty of popular songs which were sung with perfect rhythm and harmony. The singing was enjoyed by everyone and helped to prolong a dinner of fine quality that was faultlessly served.

W. Anderson Carl of the Kingston Rotary Club, chairman of the general committee which arranged for the district conference, presided in an able manner and after the dinner had been served called on Dr. Byron J. Michael, president of Kingston Rotary, who made the address of welcome. Dr. Michael warmly welcomed the Rotarians and their families and expressed the feeling of hospitality prevailing among the members of Kingston Rotary which manifested itself in the cordiality shown by the local Rotarians to the visitors.

Following the address of welcome, the meeting was turned over to J. Michael Sears, district governor of the Twenty-ninth District of Rotary International, who presided during the evening.

The first address of the evening was delivered by Daniel F. Imrie, president of the Glens Falls Rotary Club, who spoke on "The Rotarian—What Manner of Man Is He?" Mr. Imrie described the Rotarian as he is and told of some of his accomplishments in various fields of activity and pointed out some of the things which were capable of accomplishment.

Leonard T. Skeggs of Youngstown, Ohio, second vice president of Rotary International, was scheduled as the second speaker of the evening but had been unable to reach Lake Mohonk until today, and his place was taken by Commissioner of Charities Charles B. Johnston, president of the Albany Rotary Club, who had been to the program for an address today. Mr. Johnston's general theme was the importance of the individual in American life. He was most happy in the selection of his stories, his address was eloquent and inspiring to a marked degree and he received unqualified applause during its delivery and at its close. The address dealt with the individual in general, and what he can do for his community and the larger civil divisions in his everyday life.

At the close of the addresses, the meeting adjourned to the Mohonk Mountain House Chapel, where entertainment of unusual interest was presented.

The Kingston Rotary Club is highly honored in the selection of three of its members to participate actively in the district conference. In addition to Dr. Michael being selected to deliver the address of welcome, W. Anderson Carl is secretary of the general committee on arrangements, whose work in advance of the conference was found to have been thoroughly done so as to receive the best of the visitors, and in the selection of Stuart M. English as general secretary.

Emil G. Boessneck, the incoming president of Kingston Rotary, who assumes the duties of that office on July 1, was among the Kingston Rotarians who attended the opening session. The Kingston Rotary Club was well represented at Thursday night's session and at the sessions held today.

Many men prominent in public affairs have registered for the conference. Among them are Charles H. Burke of New York City, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York; Guy Gundaker of Philadelphia, past president of Rotary International; Donald A. Adams of New Haven, Conn., past president of Rotary International; Leonard T. Skeggs of Youngstown, Ohio, second vice president of Rotary International; and Raymond J. Knoepfel of New York City, international director and past district governor.

Buffalo, May 18 (A.P.).—Police were informed today that Jack Fisher, New York jeweler, was robbed of a package containing $2,500 worth of gems at the Hotel Buffalo yesterday.

While he stood at a cigar counter, Fisher reported that somebody jostled him and a moment later he missed the package which he had intended to mail to Fisher Brothers, in which he is a partner. He said he was unable to tell who jostled him.

$400 Awarded G. D. Strongman

Against Harris Kass and Chester Fitzgerald In Suit Growing Out of Collision—Action on Note Taken Up.

A verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $400 was returned this morning in the action brought by George D. Strongman against Harris Kass and Chester Fitzgerald. The action was brought to recover damages to a truck of plaintiff which he claimed was damaged by reason of a collision with a Packard car operated by defendants. A counter claim was filed by defendants amounting to $18,000 for property damages and injuries. A. W. Lent appeared for plaintiff and Vernon Kelder and William A. Kaercher for defendants.

No. 117, Daniel A. Curley and Morris Curley, doing business under an assumed business name, against Howard C. Winnie, a negligence action was announced as settled.

Grant M. Brinlan for plaintiffs and John W. Eckert for defendant.

No. 81, Harry Gottesman against Minnie Mendelson and Abraham Cohen, a replevin motion and money damage action, the plaintiff consented to dismiss complaint on merits.

Defendant asked return of chattel mortgage for $695.84. William D. Cunningham for plaintiff. H. Broadman Epstein for defendant.

An action on note brought by the Uster Finance Corporation against Dave Emmer and Carl Windrum was taken up for trial with a jury. Plaintiff seeks to recover $437 the amount of a note from defendant Windrum, who endorsed a note given by Emmer as part payment of a car purchased through Mr. Windrum who conducted a garage at Kerhonkson. Plaintiff contends that Windrum as endorser of the note is responsible since the maker Emmer has failed to make good.

The note was given in part payment of a car purchased in July, 1925, when Mr. Windrum was selling Star and Durant cars at Kerhonkson.

Defendant denies that he is responsible for the note as it was a sale financed through the Uster Finance Corporation which had charged a high rate of interest in payment for certain services which the corporation agreed to render in case of default in paying the note. He alleges that the conditions of the note are such that the corporation is without recourse to the endorser of the note and its relief was through repossessing the car.

After the car was sold Emmer failed to continue his payments under the financing agreement and the car disappeared. Later the car was located in a garage in New York City where it had been sold for storage.

Mr. Windrum contends that the finance corporation had charged a very high rate for financing the deal and that in consideration of this high rate of interest it was to render certain services if the payments were not met. Among them was the repossessing of the car and turning it over to Mr. Windrum to be reconditioned before it was resold and that the note was without recourse to the maker. He denies all responsibility since the car was not repossessed by the finance corporation and alleged that the corporation has no recourse against him as endorser of the note under the agreement of the finance corporation.

The trial is one which involves many questions of law and admissibility of evidence and consequently progressed slowly.

Thomas F. Coughlin appeared for the plaintiff corporation and Franklin A. Schriver of Middletown appeared for the defendant.

Larkin, 17 Canal street, Ellenville, charged with driving while intoxicated, had their licenses revoked; Decker Miller, Primrose Hill, Rhinebeck, was put under suspension, charged with being an unlicensed operator.

In the counties of the Albany district there were 31 revocations and 27 suspensions. In New York City there were 139 revocations and 139 suspensions. Other sections of the state had 137 revocations and a like number of suspensions.

She was removed to the hospital in the city ambulance where an X-ray was taken that showed no bones were broken and that she was merely bruised. She will be able to return home in a few days.

Hudson Almost Dry as Desert

From the Viewpoint of Prohibition Agents—Anticipating Another Clean-up, Proprietors Are Playing Safe.

Those who desire to sample a little pre-Prohibition refreshments should apparently avoid the city of Hudson. Since the wholesale raids conducted last week by Federal agents working out of the local office in connection with men working from the New York office it apparently is a difficult thing to quench one's thirst. Last Friday fifty agents swooped down on the town and with the raid timed to a minute, twenty-five places were entered at once by the agents who worked in pairs. The raid was entirely successful from a viewpoint of the agents and the defendants are being arraigned before U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connelly here on various dates.

Only one section of Hudson was visited last week and apparently the refreshment parlor proprietors are anticipating something more in the way of a clean-up. Early this week agents against visited the town armed with a few more search warrants which had gone unserved last week. Four places were visited but three of them were found to be absolutely dry, in fact dusty. The other place had evidently not heard of the raids last week for there a small quantity of beer was found, nothing else.

Hudson is apparently approaching desert dryness with an oasis here and there for the thirsty traveler.

Negligence Suit In Supreme Court

The action which was taken up Wednesday in Supreme court was continued Thursday. George D. Strongman of Highland seeks to recover damages amounting to $1,000 for damages to personal property from Harris Kass and Chester Fitzgerald alleging that a Packard car collided with his truck on the Tuxedo-Shoatsburgh road on the evening of September 21, 1925, and causing damage. The defendants seek to have a counter claim to recover $18,000 damages for injuries sustained and for damage to the car.

Plaintiff claims the truck owned by him was being operated in a southerly direction along the highway while the Packard car was traveling north. Near a culvert it is the contention of the plaintiff the Packard car crashed almost head on into the truck which was being operated to the right of the center line of the highway and about a foot from the guard rail.

Defendant denies that the accident was caused by his negligence but contends that it was the fault of the driver of the truck and seeks to recover. A. W. Lent appears for plaintiff and Vernon Kelder and William Kaercher appear for the defendants.

NATIONALISTS ARE HEADED FOR PEKING.

Shanghai, May 18 (A.P.).—The Nationalists were approaching ever nearer Peking today.

Members of the foreign community at Shanghai believed that the nationalists were preparing to retire from the capital into Manchuria.

(A reuter dispatch from Tokyo said indications there were Japan was prepared to act on a moment's notice to prevent the civil war from spreading into Manchuria.)

The Nationalists were believed to be advancing along the line of the Peking-Hankow Railway. The latest Nationalist reports claimed that they had reached Paoingku, about 59 miles south of Peking on the railway. The Nationalist news agency said that the vanguard of Shansi province troops, which are allied with the Nationalists, had reached Chanchin, about seven miles south west of Peking.

Indications of danger to Peking were seen in attempts of Marshal Chiang Tse-Lin, Northern Director, to recruit his own troops and discredit the Nationalist generals. He issued a proclamation accusing General Feng Yuxiang, Nationalist ally, of co-operating with the Communists and attempting to foment anti-foreign demonstrations. The last charge was regarded as an attempt to involve the Nationalists with the Japanese.

The Japanese formally notified the Chinese authorities at Tientsin, where Nationalists and Japanese clashed, that Major General Saito had been appointed garrison commander there to assist the chamber of commerce in maintaining order.

Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist commander in chief, made an unsuccessful attempt to open negotiations with Lieutenant General Fukuda, Japanese Commander at Tientsin, being anxious to discuss the Japanese demands on the Nanjing government. General Fukuda refused to negotiate except with a personally appointed delegate.

The party will take a 75-mile motor trip over the Columbia River Highway.

Scouts Face Rain For Big Powwow

Camping Plans for Tonight Dependent on Condition of Weather and Number of Scouts Arriving Here Late This Afternoon.

Rain which began to fall during the early hours of this morning may interfere with the plans made for the annual powwow of the Boy Scout Councils of New York and New Jersey of Region No. 2 in the National Area of Scouting, scheduled to be held at Forsyth Park today, Saturday and Sunday, and exactly what will be done to shelter the visiting Scouts tonight will not be determined until the vanguard of Scouts reaches Kingston late this afternoon.

Most of the Scouts from the region have planned to arrive in Kingston early Saturday morning, but advance details are expected during the afternoon and early this evening. Whether they will camp at Forsyth Park for the night or whether other provision will be made for them will be determined by the weather conditions and the number of Scouts who form the advance guard.

The elaborate powwow program, published in Tuesday's issue of The Freeman, was prepared on the assumption of fair weather, and the various Scout Councils who have planned to attend also based their preparations on the same assumption. It is believed that many councils will come in full force Saturday morning if the weather gives any indication of being clear for that day and Sunday, but it is considered likely that the rain will considerably cut down the estimated attendance of between 800 and 1,000 Boy Scouts which has been anticipated.

Reservations have not come up to expectations, but experience has shown those in charge of Scouting that local councils often accept invitations without giving formal notice, so that preparations have been made to provide for a large number of visitors. Fort Orange Council of Albany has planned to send a large delegation, and the Fort Orange Council Band, which will be the official band for the powwow, has planned to leave Albany this afternoon, to be followed by other members of the council, together with parents of many of the Scouts, Saturday morning.

The original arrangements provided for the Scouts to camp in tents to be erected in the amphitheatre in Forsyth Park, and mess call was fixed for 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, with supper served from the commissary. Church call is fixed for 6:30 p. m. with Jewish Scouts to assemble at headquarters Emanuel. First call for evening colors is at 7:30, with assembly and lowering of the colors at 7:35, band call at 8:00, campfire program at 8:15, call to quarters at 9:30, tattoo at 9:45 and taps at 10 o'clock. Saturday's program begins at 6 a. m. with many events throughout the day.

This afternoon it was stated at Scout headquarters that the program would be carried out. It is considered unlikely that tents will be pitched for tonight at least in Forsyth Park and plans were being made to take care of the Scouts at the Y. M. C. A. and at Epworth Hall on Clinton avenue, but these plans are subject to the condition of the weather.

Dry Agents Raid Balmville Barn

Adolph Vermeulen of Balmville, on the outskirts of Newburgh, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly Thursday afternoon on a charge of violating the federal prohibition law.

His arrest followed a raid on a barn made by federal prohibition agents who allege they found two stills of fifty gallon capacity and a quantity of mash in the basement of the barn on the premises. They allege there were also condensers and coils and a mash tub of 500 gallon capacity. The agents seized about twenty gallons of what is claimed to be applejack. The equipment was destroyed. The basement of the barn was reached through a trap door.

Vermeulen, the alleged owner of the premises, was held in $500 bail for a hearing before Commissioner Connelly on June 6.

Durham Said He Was Robbed

Whitfield Man Claims He Left Home With $160 Which Had Disappeared When Arrested for Public Intoxication on East Chester Street Thursday.

"Believe me, I'll never touch another drop if I can help it," observed Theron Durham, 49, of Whitfield, in police headquarters where he was being held awaiting arraignment in police court on a charge of public intoxication this morning.

According to Durham's story he had worked hard all winter and had accumulated $160. That day he left home determined to pay up some bills he owed before leaving for Binghamton where he expected to obtain a job. First, he said, he went to Rosendale expecting to pay a man there $25, but before paying the bill he had a few drinks and forgot all about the bill. From Rosendale he drifted into Kingston and about 5 o'clock that afternoon was found helplessly drunk on East Chester street by Officer Welch. Durham spent the night in the county jail and when sober this morning made the discovery that his roll was missing.

He had no idea where it had gone to but told Sergeant Simpson of several places where he said he had stopped in this city before being arrested. He was unable, however, to say where he had first missed his money.

Later in police court Judge Shufeldt, after hearing Durham's story, sentenced him to five days in the county jail and suspended the serving of the sentence.

Gilboa Hit by Another Fire

Garage Building and Feed Store Destroyed With Loss Estimated at $40,000—Oil Stove Exploded in Apartment Above Garage.

The village of Gilboa was threatened with destruction Wednesday, when fire spread from the Wyckoff Garage building to the feed store owned by Leland Lewis. Before the blaze was brought under control both these buildings were destroyed, Stamford and Ashland firemen responded to calls for assistance and their help aided greatly in preventing still greater loss. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

About ten cars and some dump wagons that were stored in the Wyckoff garage were saved. The only car to be taken to services at the Temple Emanuel. First call for evening colors is at 7:30, with assembly and lowering of the colors at 7:35, band call at 8:00, campfire program at 8:15, call to quarters at 9:30, tattoo at 9:45 and taps at 10 o'clock. Marines Pursue Rebel Slayers

Fighting Against Odds American Marines Lose Comrade In Most Severe Combat—Once Rebels Through Jungles of The North.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 18 (A.P.).—Pushing their way through the jungles of the north, American Marines today were tracking down the rebel slayers of a comrade in arms.

In the most severe combat since February 27, one Marine and one Nicaraguan national guardsman were killed, and the commanding officer of the patrol, Captain Robert S. Hunter, of Kansas, and another Marine were wounded.

Sixty to 75 insurgents and 25 Marines and ten guardsmen took part in the clash which occurred near Paso Real, 45 miles northeast of Jinotega and across the Cua river.

Fighting against odds, the Marines killed five rebels and wounded five. The insurgents were under Jose Leon Diaz, who has had previous revolutionary experience and is reputed to be a Honduran, who has joined the cause of General Augusto Sandino.

The Marine patrol was isolated. Medical and surgical supplies were dropped to them by an airplane squadron under Captain Robert A. Archibald. The names of the enlisted Marine casualties were not learned.

Two relief columns were rushed from Jinotega toward the region, which is thickly forested and has been little explored. These Marines under Major Keller E. Rockey of Indiana, were to assist the wounded and take up the pursuit of the rebels. The wounded will be sent to Quilich and then evacuated to Managua by airplane. Brigade headquarters stated that they believed Captain Hunter's patrol was not in a serious predicament.

Diaz is known as a daring leader. Last October he attacked a government garrison of thirty men with 15 followers. Recent reports said he had 200 men under his command. Constant pressure by Marines broke up his band, but they were believed to have worked their way back to Jinotega in small groups and formed again.

Since the clash on February 27, when a supply train was attacked and five Marines killed, Marine patrols have made 25 contacts with the rebels. In these there was only one casualty, Captain Francis E. Pierce, who was shot through the foot while acting as an observer in an airplane which was fired upon by rebels.

H. W. Amphlett, manager of La Luz mine in Northeastern Nicaragua, recently destroyed by insurgents, has returned to Puerto Cabezas, with copies of a defiance signed by General Sandino. Amphlett said this had been posted on the property by the insurgents and promised destruction of all American owned property that fell into his hands.

Italia Back At Its Base

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 18 (A.P.).—The dirigible Italia returned to her base here at 9:15 a. m. today from an exploring trip to Lenin Land. The weather was fine.

The dirigible had been in flight for almost sixty-eight hours over a course of some 2,000 miles, having left Kings Bay 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The long flight has made over the Polar regions since her arrival at Kings Bay. The first flight was made on May 11 and lasted only about eight hours, although it had been hoped that the ship would make a 48 hour cruise. For and a heavy snow storm compelled General Noble to turn back after covering about 500 miles.

Bear Winkles With She-70.

Clinton Chapter Food Sale.

Clinton Chapter, No. 443, O. E. S., will hold a food sale in Wednesday's store on Saturday, May 23, from 2 to 5 p. m. The committee hopes that the members will contribute generously.

With the Y. M. C. A. Campaign successfully concluded and the path cleared for the city and county appeal in behalf of Benedictine Hospital, Philip Elting, general chairman of the hospital appeal, today made public the general committee list and campaign organization constituting approximately 400 Kingstonians who have committed themselves to helping Benedictine lift its debt.

The general committee is one of the largest organizations of its kind ever formed in Kingston; it includes representatives of every phase of civic, commercial and professional life.

A majority of the persons were personally asked by the general chairman to serve. In each instance Mr. Elting said he obtained the assurance of individual support.

Commenting upon the general committee list, Mr. Elting said: "It is probably the largest and most representative organization ever created in Kingston for a charitable campaign. I am deeply gratified with the response I have received on every hand to my request for aid in this very worthy cause. In not one instance of more than 200 personal inquiries did I receive a refusal. On the contrary the proposal was accepted with unusual enthusiasm."

Mr. Elting predicted a successful conclusion of the campaign which is to raise from $100,000 to $150,000 in Kingston and Ulster county for Benedictine Hospital. He was unqualified in his praise for the hospital and of the splendid work it has done during a quarter of a century of service to this community.

Moreover, he expressed concern at the financial situation now confronting the hospital, which he said menaces its future development.

During these years of service, he said, Benedictine has accumulated a heavy debt. This has been due to the fact that the hospital has necessarily operated with an annual deficit and also has made capital improvements which were urgently needed and for which it was necessary to assume a heavy obligation.

"As a result," Mr. Elting continued, "the hospital now is hampered with a debt burden of approximately $150,000, which alone requires an annual interest payment in the neighborhood of $5,000."

He pointed out that with this debt lifted the interest money can be turned into other useful and more productive channels, thus enabling the institution to broaden its splendid service.

The campaign opens with a dinner in the armory on Friday night, May 25. This will be followed by the first report meeting of the campaign in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Monday, May 25. A meeting of the division leaders, their aides, team captains and lieutenants will also be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium next Monday evening, May 21.

The general campaign organization, as announced by Mr. Elting, follows:

EX-COP ADMITS KILLING WOMAN WITH A HAMMER

Commits Atrocious Crime
Because Girl Had Stolen
15 Cents From Him.

Montreal.—"She was hard to kill; I had to choke her and then use the hammer," was the way Jules Coulombe, ex-policeman and carpenter, described to another woman how he had killed Bessie Duller, an occasional visitor to his home, because, he said, she had stolen 15 cents from him.

The ex-policeman was under arrest for the murder of a Quebec painter named Arthur Richard, whose torso was found frozen in the snow on the roof of a shed outside of his bedroom window. Evidence was given at the coroner's inquest that Coulombe had hacked off the head and limbs and burnt them in his stove.

Body Is Burned.
This month the ex-policeman had confessed to the city police, but a further sensation was caused when Bessie Laurendeau, a woman who had come casually to the house of Coulombe two months ago for a drink and stayed two months with him, told the court she had been in the house when Coulombe had killed the other woman "er a terrific struggle, and had cut her body in pieces and fed it to the flames in the stove.

"It was some time about the middle of December that Jules Coulombe murdered her," said the woman. "I did not see the crime committed but I afterward saw her body cut up and burned. Jules told me he had quarreled with Bessie because he said she had stolen 15 cents from him. I heard them struggling and fighting upstairs. Bessie was screaming and Coulombe was shouting curses. Then there was a silence and Jules came down stairs with his hands all blood. I was terrified."

Confesses Killing.

"She was hard to kill; I had to choke her and then use the hammer," he told me. Next day I saw her body in the upstairs room. The face was all smashed in and there were marks on the throat. Jules cut off her arms, her legs and her head and then cut up her body and burned it all in the stove. He threatened me and I was too scared to tell anybody or to leave the place.

"I came from St. Pierre d'Orleans and don't know anybody here. It was just by chance I came there. He gave me a drink and I stayed on for two months."

Drops Huge Grizzly With His Last Bullet

Vancouver, B. C.—With only one shot left in the magazine of his rifle, Alvin Woods of Ocean Falls, B. C., succeeded in bringing down his first grizzly bear after the huge animal, although wounded by four bullets, had charged to within 25 feet of him.

Woods, with two companions, established his hunting camp recently on the Big Salmon river, 100 miles north of Prince George, after learning that the bears were numerous and had virtually gone without human food in winter, owing to lack of salmon in the fall.

Woods sighted his grizzly 150 yards away. His first shot hit him in the forepaw. Uttering ferocious roars, the bear charged toward Woods, who fired three shots into it at 50 yards, but failed to stop the animal.

Twenty-five feet from the crouching hunter the grizzly paused, reared on its hind legs, then started to advance with savage growls. Retaining his nerve, Woods aimed at the left breast and dropped his aim. The pet was one of the largest ever taken out of the Prince George country.

Bears are very ferocious, said to be owing to the small amount of fish reaching the upper tributaries of the rivers.

Fall Is Fatal

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—Thomas G. H. H. forty-four, is dead here from injuries received when he fell from a 50-foot water tower at Mount Vernon. He had been working on the tower for six weeks and had only one hour's work left to do when he fell.

Wrong Place to Dance

Dover, Ohio.—Dancing to the music at a Salvation Army meeting cost J. J. Rocco a fine of $10.

Nation's Dead Honored

The National cemetery consists of 14,57 acres. There are 3,749 graves, of which 1,641 are the graves of unidentified dead. All of these graves are marked with government headstones.

Woodpecker Has Taste for Good Rich Cream

Beaton, Wis.—A woodpecker has been seen to peck at a can of rich cream. This was discovered by Mrs. H. M. Wilson, who after repeatedly finding a hole in her milk bottle, the eggs with the cream missing, and a small amount of cream in a window as soon as the milk can was left the bottle. A brown flicker alighted on the porch and carefully drilled a hole through the cap, quickly sucking as much cream as the long bill could reach. Mrs. Wilson recognized the woodpecker as one she had been feeding meat scraps during the winter.

Couldn't Find Partner at Ball, Tries Suicide

Stendal, Germany.—Because no one would dance with her Frau Hilda Hessler attempted suicide.

Accompanied by her twenty-four-year-old daughter, Frau Hessler attended a ball. As she is an ardent fox-trotter and charlestonienne herself, she looked forward to having a good time and keenly expected waited for the fun to begin.

But she waited in vain, for no one asked her to dance—not even her future son-in-law. The disappointment was too much and she fled from the scene of merriment to the courtyard. There, to end it all, she cut open both her radial arteries. A physician summoned in a hurry succeeded in saving her from bleeding to death.

Children in Charge of Three Big Forests

Crandon, Wis.—School children of Forest county have been intrusted with the care and preservation of three 40-acre forests.

In the presence of educators and conservationists of the state the pupils of Crandon, Laona and Wabeno last week signed covenants pledging themselves to develop and manage the three forests.

The exercises accompanying acceptance of the trust by the pupils were attended by H. L. Russell, dean of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, and John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction.

The SANDMAN STORY

WHAT FAIRY QUEEN SAW

"I had a fine journey," said the Fairy Queen, as she came back to Fairyland.

"Tell us about it, and tell us what you saw," the Fairy asked.

"First of all I saw some lovely trees and a great avenue. They had all come out in full, and they were leaning over and meeting high in the center, and talking to each other.

"It seemed that they had started talking each other little springtime secrets, and had gone closer together and closer together as they had listened to each other.

"So now the lovely branches met and made a beautiful tree archway all down the avenue.

"All winter long they had looked at each other on either side of the road, and they had said:

"When spring comes we'll have some talks."

"Then I peeped in at a birthday party. A little girl named Lucy was nine years old.

"I Saw Some Dear Little Pink Leaves Coming Out."

"She had some other children at her party, and they played all kinds of games. I was in the Corner was one favorite.

"They played the donkey game, too. There was a big sheet, and upon it was a painted donkey. Each child was blindfolded, and after having been turned around three times so as to be mixed up and to make the game harder, she was started off carrying a painted tail made of cloth which she was going to try to put on the donkey.

"The one who got nearest in putting on the tail correctly won a prize.

"Then they had ice cream and a large birthday cake with Lucy's name and age printed in pink letters upon the white frosting.

"The table had a paper table cloth upon it with all kinds of pretty pictures of little boys blowing their horns and of children with sand pails and shovels at the seashore. The napkins were like the tablecloth, too.

"Then there were fences made of cardboard with the same patterns, and these fences were put about the table. They were quite low.

"The colors were all blue and yellow, and Lucy wore a yellow half ribbon, and yellow socks, and a blue sash.

"Oh, they had a splendid time.

"Then I passed a great many members of the Balloon family, all riding on motorcars. They looked very pretty and gay and festive, and they were very proud as they waved a 'hello' to me as they hurried by!

"I saw some dear little pink leaves coming out, and I knew the members of the White Oak family were slowly coming along.

"I called upon a little Dicky bird, too, who belonged to a little boy known to his friends as Pine.

"Pine was very fond of Dicky and told him Dicky would sing, though really Dicky sang very little.

"But even his chirping was music and song to Pine's ears. And Pine told me of Dicky's bath-taking, and how he never failed to take a bath each morning.

"Oh, Pine boasted of Dicky, and of his bright yellow feathers.

"Pine thought it was so wonderful that Dicky did everything standing on his legs.

"He sleeps that way, he eats that way, he sings that way, he takes his bath that way," Pine said.

"I saw many garden flowers—lavender tulips, and white lilacs, and lilies of the valley, and Johnny Jump-Ups, and Striped Grass and Flowering Almond bushes, and they all wished me such a polite good-day.

"Flowers have such sweet manners. I saw two dogs rub noses, too, and tell each other they were so glad to meet again.

"My journey was interesting to me because I love to see all the different creatures and flowers and people I can.

"To me there is so much that is worth while to see, and it's all so very enjoyable," the Fairy Queen ended as she waved her wand happily.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

WITCHES AND HOT IRON

A BELIEF in witches, though still lingering among us, is now confined for the most part to those who have brought the belief with them from their former European or Asiatic homes. It is said, however, to be not infrequently found among the negroes of the South and is occasionally met with in remote country districts in various parts of the United States. There are also many customs of a superstitious nature which are employed by people who, while not believing in witches exactly, or perhaps not at all, continue the practices of their ancestors and attribute to them some magic efficacy. Such are the customs of putting a hot poker into a batch of homemade soap to make it harder; and of throwing a red-hot horseshoe into the churn when the butter refuses to come, customs which will be found in many localities all over Canada and the United States.

A publication of the American Folklore Society says that as recently as fifty years ago this hot poker act was performed in rural New England with the avowed purpose of working a counter charm upon soap which was supposed to be bewitched, and it was confidently believed that "the witch" would be burned, too, who had done the bewitching. As recently as thirty-five years ago, the publication states, people in Vermont threw red-hot horseshoes into refractory cream, openly stating that the cream was bewitched and would not otherwise turn to butter. As stated, these practices still continue, though it is rarely now that the worker of the counter charm will admit that he is really seeking to baffle a witch.

Iron has from ancient times been considered as something feared and hated by witches and evil spirits. There appears to be some dispute in folklore as to whether cold or hot iron is most efficacious against the powers of evil. The Scots are all in favor of cold iron but the advocates of hot iron say that it has the double advantage of melting the witch's work and of burning the witch at the same time by sympathetic magic.

Brains and Breathing

Recent tests proved that the boys in a school who breathed properly through the nose, and deeply, were in all cases better mentally endowed.—London Tit-Bits.

Annual Sale For The Blind.

The preliminary meeting of the Committee to have charge of this year's annual sale of articles made by the blind of this state will be held on the afternoon of Thursday, June 7, at the Kingston City Library. Further details regarding the meeting will be announced later.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE DRESS CIRCLE

IN LARGE auditoriums and opera houses the balcony immediately over the boxes is called the dress circle. And to the modern opera goer it may seem strange, with the boxes which quite obviously call for full evening dress, and the orchestra, in which this is usually worn, that a balcony secondary to both in price and the desirability of the seats, should be called the "dress circle."

The fact is, however, that the term is a European one, coming to us directly from England where what we call the orchestra constituted, with the exception of the front rows or "stalls," the cheaper part of the theater. And it was before the introduction of stalls that the dress circle was created to be set apart for the superior class of the audience.

Freedom

How free are you? How many of us are free? That is to say, how many of us are guided very closely by what others do and think, or what others may do or may think? We dress a certain way because we feel that our friends or acquaintances expect us to dress a certain way and will look at us disapprovingly if we do not. We express not the emotions that we really feel, but the emotions that are considered appropriate at the time. Few people are big enough, few have personality enough, to act with any degree of freedom.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

ON FASHIONS

THE PRINTED FROCK CLAIMS THE PREMIER POSITION, BUT WHAT OF THE PRINTED COAT? PARIS APPROVES IT AND THE ALL-SILK ENSEMBLE.

New York. The printed frock occupies the center of the stage, without a doubt. It has become the exception rather than the rule to wear a plain fabric, or such is one's impression on returning to America after an absence of many months.

Certainly more prints are seen here in the course of daily routine than one saw in a month on the Riviera. This is not because prints are not appreciated abroad, but because they are reserved for warmer and sunnier days.

One wonders what the outcome of their enthusiastic reception will be here, whether they will have lost their charm when the days and occasions arise for which they were originally designed. It seems safe to predict that the first falling leaves will find women settled down to the habit of wearing prints, for which the infinite variety of design approved, there is no danger of monotony, at least.

A Two-Piece Frock of Wool Jersey Shows the Long Tunic with Tiers at the Front Only. Each Tier Is Bordered with Pleated Black Grosgrain Matching the Belt. The Black Dots of the Jumper Are on a White Ground, and the Skirt Is of Black Jersey.

The success of the printed dress is established, but the success of the printed coat, a Parisian version of the ensemble, remains to be tested. Indications being that the all-silk ensemble is liked, it follows that if women want silk coats they are quite likely to want them printed to match the frock beneath, or, by way of change, to be worn over a plain dress the color of which is repeated in the print of the coat.

Whatever may be said of the spring clothes crop, it is a jocular one, not only because of bright color, but because of a certain airiness and lightness of design and silhouette.

Cat Finds Only Bridge

How Bonzo, a black cat belonging to Bert Pierson of Hertz, England, found his way back home, is puzzling his owner. Pierson moved recently from Sheerness, on the Isle of Sheppey, to Hertz. The only means of access to the Isle of Sheppey is by way of the King's Ferry bridge. The cat found the crossing and traveled the 50 miles back to the old home, where he remained until found.

Paris Evening Gowns
Are Soft and Flowing

Paeons of praise, instead of the scornful comment to which they are customarily subjected by the self-appointed critics of feminine clothes, should greet the efforts of the Paris couturiers this spring, particularly for their achievements in evening gowns, says a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Times. The new materials used are gently feminine—the printed chiffons, laces, satins and taffetas especially—and lovely in their colorings and designs, having no hint of the bizarre or garish. The lines, too, are soft and flowing, giving an ethereal effect, as of trailing clouds.

A demure tone is emphasized, the skirts being preferably quite long and the necklines not obtrusively low. The whole effect, in fact, is toward an imaginative, almost spiritual beauty. When the new effect is contrasted with the skimpy, knee-length frock of a season or so ago, brazenly blazing with the gaudy paillettes of a circus performer, the change will be appreciated the more.

No material so well interprets this desire for floating draperies as does chiffon, and Paris has opened up a whole range of new possibilities of cut and ornamentation by taking over the flowered chiffons for evening wear. In some instances certain figures in the printed design are beaded to accent the lines of the gown, as Worth has done in an otherwise simple frock of multi-toned yellow popples on a silvery-gray background. The full skirt, with its irregularly pointed hemline, had the yellow tone of its flowers brought out with yellow crystal beads while the girlishly simple waist had a rectangular scarf of self-material caught under a nosegay of flowers at the left of the belt. This shawl-like scarf could be worn around the shoulders or twisted about the waist as a crushed belt with ends left hanging.

Flounces and Bows Are on Paris Fashion List

Paris styles for women stress the effects of flounces and bows, says Liberty Weekly.

A Parisian designer describes this new fashion as "a perfect riot of flounces running in every direction, sloping up in front or at the back, plaited or gathered, cut on the bias or cut straight, but always carefully studied so that the effect is youthful."

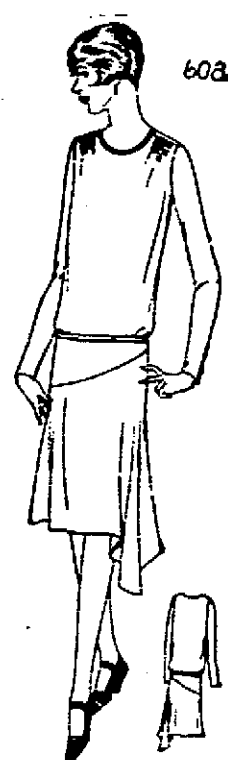

Four out of five dresses have it—the flounce in some sort of interpretation. They are variously called flounces, tiers, and ruffles, and you may find them masquerading under that favorite phrase of the fashion-mongers, "the circular movement."

Girls will be girls this spring. They shall flaunt that most feminine of all sartorial details, the flounce, and they will cease from the futile effort to look sexless. Not only shall we wear ruffles, but our spring-time chic will be all tied up in bows.

Profit in Pine Seedlings

The North Carolina conservation service reports success from the venture of furnishing pine seedlings to farmers. A Johnson county farmer planted 350 long-leaf pine seedlings, with a loss of only 11. Similar reports show that the long-leaf pine may be regarded as a crop.

WITCH DOCTORS' STRANGE RITES

Ordeals of Pain Undergone by African Natives Are Past Belief.

Cape Town, Africa.—Cape Town, Africa, the home of the witch doctor and his strange rites, and believed to be the scene of the most terrible ordeals of pain undergone by African natives, are past belief.

It is rather unusual, however, to discover an ordeal taking place in one of the big cities. One occurred recently in Durban, where a large Indian population resides. Several whites, including two doctors and myself, were invited to witness a Hindu fire walking ceremony at the Umbilo temple. Several Soutris, or sacred Hindus, their bodies skinned with pins and steel instruments, were to walk across a floor of red embers.

When we arrived on the scene, six tons of firewood were blazing in a huge bonfire. The flames lit up the crowds of dark faces waiting to see this extraordinary ordeal. In time the logs were reduced to glowing charcoal, and these embers were spread out evenly in a bed 24 by 16 feet. This fire pit was roped off from the huge crowd surrounding.

Walk Glowing Carpet.

The glowing carpet was no sooner prepared than the sound of tom-toms beaten frenziedly and reed pipes wailing were heard in the distance. Then the Soutris appeared, all naked to the waist and displaying their bodies skinned with steel pins, and with weights dangling from the pins. One gray-haired woman of sixty years had her tongue skewered. These human pin cushions walked straight toward the bed of live coals and without a quiver faced the drift of hot ashes stirred by the breeze. One of the Soutris was walking on nails fixed to the soles of wooden sandals.

While the tom-toms sounded and the reed pipes screeched these Indians walked slowly round the fire bed. The heat was so great that the whites and the crowd of onlookers had to stand a few yards away. Then the tom-toms rose to a frenzy, and the Soutris, one after another, calmly walked across the fire, their feet sinking into the red embers. They appeared to feel no pain, either from the steel pins in their bodies or the fire that should have blistered their feet. In fact, several of them made the journey across the bed of fire twice and even thrice.

After the fire walking the two medical men, Doctor Goldberg and Doctor Watkins, were allowed to examine the feet of the Soutris. They found them to be entirely free from burns or blisters. Doctor Goldberg told me that he could offer no physiological explanation for the healthy condition of these Hindus, for the moment they were relieved of the pins and skewers they were normal men and women. They smilingly showed their feet to the Europeans to prove that they were unharmed.

The steel pins when withdrawn drew no blood and the wounds were barely discernible. The woman who walked through the fire has done so year by year for the last ten years. She appeared to faint when the ordeal was over, but one of the Hindu priests insisted that she was merely throwing off the inner volition.

The Soutris after the fire walking gathered ashes from the fire and distributed them to the clamoring crowd, who regard the ashes as a good omen in keeping off ill health.

Dance on Swords.

The fire-walking ceremony has some resemblance to another Asiatic ordeal, the Khalifa, often performed by the Malays in Cape Town. I have witnessed several of these ceremonies and must confess that there is much that is inexplicable in them.

The Khalifa usually takes place in a Malay house. The ceremony begins with a reading from the Koran, and then the tom-toms work the worshippers into a religious frenzy. Short native swords are produced, and the Malays hack at themselves without, however, drawing blood from any of the cuts on their limbs.

Some of them are able to dance with bare feet on the upturned blades of sharp swords, others saw at their protruding tongues, while I have seen one dancer who could twirl a sword in the sockets of his eyes without apparently injuring himself.

Much of this may be merely clever sword play, with the spectators half hypnotized by the incessant thumping of tom-toms and the swirling clouds of incense. But like the fire walkers these Malays can skewer their bodies with long steel instruments, puncture their cheeks, and be nailed by the ears to large blocks of wood without any blood coming from the wounds. At the last Khalifa I saw in Cape Town the collection was made toward the end of the ceremony by an old Malay with three skewers protruding from his mouth and piercing his cheeks.

Pastor, Unfrocked To Appeal Case

Lead, S. D., May 18 (P).—The Rev. Albert H. Crombie, unfrocked by the South Dakota presbytery after a two-year dispute over fundamentalist doctrines, will carry his case for reinstatement to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Tulsa, Okla., May 24 to 26.

The Rev. Mr. Crombie now is preaching at White Bear Lake, Minn. Back in 1924, while pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lead, Mr. Crombie started the controversy when he charged local public schools with atheistic teachings.

Himself an extreme fundamentalist, his preaching led to a division in his congregation. Most of his supporters were workmen in the gold mines here. The opposing faction demanded his resignation.

The Rev. Mr. Crombie refused to resign. Then, one night, when he was to deliver an anti-evolution sermon, he found his church padlocked. Charges were preferred against him by a faction of his congregation.

The Black Hills Presbytery in April, 1926, found him guilty of "conduct unbecoming a Christian minister" and violation of his ordination vows.

The synod ordered the Black Hills Presbytery to begin proceedings to unfrock him. Contending no proper charges had been made against him, the Rev. Mr. Crombie refused to attend the meeting of the Presbytery here in December, 1926, when he was unfrocked.

He took his case before the general assembly at San Francisco in 1927, and obtained an order directing the synod of South Dakota to hear his case without delay. The synod rejected his appeal.

WISDOM DISCOVERED IN ANCIENT CUSTOMS

Washington, May 18 (P).—Any custom that has held its own for generations usually has something back of it, no matter how little it appears to be supported by modern science. In the opinion of Hugh S. Cumming, surgeon general of the United States public health service.

"For a thousand years," he says, "the Chinese have prescribed the heads of powdered toad fish as a remedy for heart trouble, and now adrenin, the most up-to-date drug for the treatment of heart disease, has been found to exist in the head glands of that fish."

"For generations the fact that American Indian hunters always chose the liver and the white men the meat when the animals they had trapped or killed were divided, was quoted as proof of their ignorance and primitive development."

"Yet in the last five years the great nutritive value of liver has come to be recognized and it is prescribed in cases of anaemia."

ged Senators In Canada

Ont., May 18 (AP).—The death of Senator George Gerald King, 92, at the age of 92, has drawn attention to the advanced age of many of the Canadian senators. One at least, Senator George Desautels, is a centenarian. He is 100 years old, while more than 75 and older comprise more than 25 per cent of the total membership of the senate.

Among his contemporaries in the United States, a senator is not elected, nor is he relieved of office except through some act of his own; failure to attend two consecutive sessions of parliament, conviction of his Canadian citizenship, bankruptcy, being attainted, convicted of felony, ceasing to hold the requirement which demands that he possess "real property to the value of $4,000," or all others which may cost a senator his seat, but not in the history of the country has a member of the "chamber" lost his seat for any of these reasons. Canadian senators are appointed by the Governor General in council, that is, by the cabinet, and the appointment is for life. Senator Desautels is a French Canadian from Ste. Hyacinthe, Quebec. He celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary last September. Some interesting festivities marked the occasion and Canada's early history was recalled. The senator was reminded that at the age of ten, he was arrested by the British redcoats as a rebel, during the revolt of 1837. An interesting side light on that rebellion was found in the fact that its leader in Ontario was William Lyon Mackenzie, first mayor of Toronto, and grandfather of the present Prime Minister of Canada, William Lyon Mackenzie King. The rebellion leader in Quebec was Louis Joseph Papineau, whose grandson, Henri Bourassa, also sits in the House of Commons.

Despite his advanced age, Senator Desautels is not the dean of the Upper House. This honor belongs to Senator Pascal Poirier, a New Brunswick descendant of the Acadia mentioned in Longfellow's "Evangeline." Senator Poirier is 76 years of age and was 33 when appointed as senator.

Another prominent Canadian statesman is Senator Sir George Eulas Foster, also from New Brunswick, who is 81 years old. His entire life has been devoted to public affairs since he entered the House of Commons, 15 years ago. He has served under several administrations and in a number of cabinet posts. The senator was appointed in 1913 at the age of 41.

The majority of the Canadian senators are between 60 and 70, but one of the more recent appointees, Senator Lamont, is under 40 years of age.

Each of the nine provinces has its allotment of senators. Prince Edward Island, the smallest province, has four; Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 10 each; Ontario and Quebec, 24 each; while Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia have six each. The salary is $4,000 a year.

Most soft jobs come as the result of hard work.

Two business men were discussing a competitor who once had been an employee of the older of the two men.

"I happen to know that fellow is a sharper and not above lying or stealing when it's to his advantage," remarked the older man.

"Do you know him personally?"

On hot nights in Chicago, folks are frequently covered with nothing more than a revolver.

The young man had complained of insomnia, and, visiting a specialist, he was told to count until he fell asleep. He was also given a prescription.

On the following day he paid another visit to the specialist, and the latter was surprised to see that his patient looked even more tired than ever.

"Did you take the medicine?" he asked.

"Yes."

"You didn't forget to count as I told you?"

"No; I counted up to 19,568—"

"And then," said the specialist, "you fell asleep?"

"No," replied the patient; "it was time to get up."

A woman attorney says men prove themselves the weaker sex by wearing the horrible neckties their wives buy them.

Wrong again! It takes a hero to do that.

Two women in a railway compartment were quarreling about the window and insisted on calling the guard.

"If it's opened I shall catch cold and die," said the one.

"If it's closed I shall suffocate," retorted the other.

A long-suffering man here intervened. "First open the window," he told the guard, "that will kill me. Then shut it. That will get rid of the other. Then the rest of us can all go to sleep."

Doctors advise Liver for weak, pale, thin-blooded men

In New York and other big cities progressive physicians are prescribing a diet of beef liver.

Liver, they discovered, contains mysterious substances and vitamins which create rich strong blood and strengthen the vital forces of men and women.

In order to get this potent substance in a greatly condensed form, New York's famous Laboratories is putting up a liquid elixir down to Pharmacists as Hemo-Liver.

For this preparation the vital elements are extracted by a new process from fresh beef liver so that the blood making, vigor and health creating substance is obtained.

Hemo-Liver is a pleasant to take nutritive preparation which all thin-blooded people and especially those who need more vigor and vitality are urged to try. As a spring tonic it surpasses the old-time remedies.

Hemo-Liver is now dispensed by all druggists who keep abreast of the times with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help—wonderfully—your money will be returned.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anaemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds weakened vital forces and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished. Get a bottle of Hemo-Liver today at McBride's 3 Drug Stores.

You can't dodge those 18908 steps

—but you can avoid their 18908 strains to your arches

ORDINARY shoes tire our feet—and for a very good reason. Originally we walked barefoot. By nature's wise design, at each step our foot (from the ball to the heel) rested upon a firm foundation—the ground.

When civilization (generations ago) brought in the raised heel, this fundamental fact was ignored in shoe making—both for men and women.

With each of the 18,908 steps we average a day, our weight places 18,908 strains upon these arches. Is it any wonder millions feel "all in" or "want to take it easy" when evening comes?

Today there is a shoe that avoids these strains to the arches because it follows all the rules for foot comfort that nature has laid down. Yet it retains the "distinguished looking" style lines that bring beauty.

This unique shoe, the ARCH PRESERVER, is built with a patented, light but strong steel "arch-bridge" which gives the arch a firm foundation upon which to rest—just as nature intended. There is no strain to cause foot-aches or to stretch shoes out of shape.

Miss Ruth Norman of New York City, flashes a smile of appreciation for the beauty of the Arch Preserver shoe. She wears it because it gives her feet the firm foundation upon which to rest—just as nature intended. There is no strain to cause foot-aches or to stretch shoes out of shape.

Flagman's Act Wins

Good Wishes for U. S. A.

Cincinnati—Peter Pogan is a railroad crossing watchman in Cincinnati, but he won for the "United States of America and its good people" the blessing of the population of a Rumanian village.

Pogan went to his native village after the World war and found that the church of St. Gabriel had lost its bell.

Upon his return to Cincinnati, Pogan raised $312.00, bought a bell three feet high and weighing 1,300 pounds, and sent it to the congregation of the St. Gabriel church.

He received a close written 12-page letter of appreciation.

The prayers of all our people go out to you. God bless the United States of America and the good people of the United States who remember us with this bell.

"Since the people heard this church bell ringing, they have all come back to church, and now the church is too small to hold all of the people."

"Every Sunday and on the holidays we always will pray for the good people of the United States," says the letter, from Avram Leahu, the pastor.

Kansas City, Mo.—While hen-pecked husbands of Kansas City waited hope fully but skeptically, members of the Anti-Henpeck Club of Santa Fe employees are seeking means for enforcing a set of by-laws which in reality is a bill of rights for married men.

Some of the by-laws were:

"Man, after work hours, shall be privileged to sit in the front room of his house in his undershirt, with his shoes off and his feet on the library table."

"Man shall be privileged to enter his home after 2 a. m. without under going any questioning from his wife."

Double Action Motor-driven Brush and Super-suction on all three Premier Cleaners

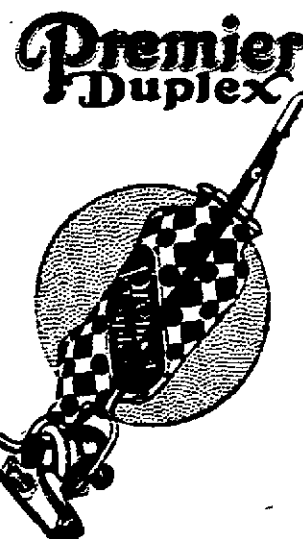

Now in addition to the nationally famous Premier Duplex we offer the Premier Junior and the Premier Pic-Up. Now there is a Premier Cleaner for every purse and purpose.

The Premier Pic-Up is as easy to operate as an electric iron—and lighter. It takes the dust and dirt out of stair carpets, davenport, automobile and furniture upholstery, cushions, mattresses—everything. Has a three-foot extension handle to clean carpets, rugs and draperies.

The Premier Junior is just two-thirds the size of the Premier Duplex—but exactly like it in every feature. It is a thorough, efficient cleaner for smaller homes, apartments and bungalows. Takes very little closet space. A complete set of attachments is included in its price.

The Premier Duplex with its super-suction and motor-driven brush gets deep-embedded grit—and gets surface lint, hair, thread and dirt. As on the other Premier Cleaners, both motor and brush are mounted in ball bearings—they never need oiling.

U. S. GIRL TRIES TO WED VENDER

Sees in Him Ghost of Her Dead French Lover.

Cairo, Egypt.—An itinerant Egyptian lemonade vender, one of the class, who with their huge, gaudily decorated jars along their backs, and incessantly tinkling brass cups, form one of Cairo's picturesque sights, appeared at the police station in the native quarter of Cairo. A well-dressed American girl tourist affectionately clung to his arm.

The peddler explained that the girl suddenly had pounced on him in the street, embraced him and refused to leave him. For hours he was unable to understand what it was all about, owing to his ignorance of English and the girl's inability to speak Hebrew or Arabic.

Eventually the lemonade vender discovered through a passerby, who was able to translate from the girl's speech into his tongue, that she insisted on marrying him instantly. Despite all his attempts to dissuade her, the girl remained with him until the afternoon, when, in desperation, he took her to the police station.

In the presence of a police officer, she repeated her extravagant demonstration of affection as the unwilling object of her attentions stood in mute embarrassment. She declared the lemonade vender exactly resembled a deceased Frenchman she formerly had loved. She affirmed her belief that the Frenchman's spirit had entered the body of the peddler. She offered the immediate payment of $4,000 if he would marry her and leave for America, where she said she would set him up in business.

The police got in touch with the American consul, who sent a representative for the girl. The consul's agent found she is stopping at one of Cairo's principal hotels, is amply supplied with money and apparently sane, except for her extraordinary obsession for the lemonade vender. Her parents in America have been advised. Meanwhile the girl is being watched by the consul, who has requested that her name be not published.

Drains Poison Cup as Toast to Her Friend

New York.—Florence Billie Alexander, formerly of Kansas City and Tulsa, drank a toast in poison to George J. Hoefler, who had befriended her, and died as he attempted to resuscitate her.

Hoefler said he had known Miss Alexander for several years and that they were firm friends, but nothing more. She went to college in Tulsa, he said, and later married Harry Shepherd, a wealthy Kansas City operator, from whom she later was divorced.

Miss Alexander, who was an interior decorator, entered Hoefler's apartment in West Ninth street before he was up. She had a glass in her hand and she ascertained that he was awake. "Here's a toast for you," she said, and drained the glass. She fell forward onto the floor.

Hoefler said that Miss Alexander came to New York two years ago and was at first affluent, but for a time was apparently in poor financial condition. Several months ago, he said, he invited her to live in the apartment which he owned and since then she had done well as a decorator. He could suggest no motive for suicide.

Five Pesos Price for Murders Gets Business

Mexico City.—A price of only five pesos for a murder, which modest figure attracted a considerable clientele, was charged by Gregorio Sanchez, a professional assassin, who has just been wounded and captured near Cholula in the state of Puebla.

A dispatch to El Excelsior says Sanchez had no occupation except assassination and was ready to kill anybody at any time provided the five pesos were forthcoming. He had enough customers to enable him to earn a good living. The police said they found in his pocket "a sheet of paper half filled with names of persons he had assassinated." The dispatches neglect to give any total.

Judge Orders Thashing for Boy With Whisky

Ada, Okla.—Edgar Stillman, eighteen years old, stood before United States District Judge Robert L. Williams here and admitted the possession of three pints of whisky.

"Take him to the basement and thrash him," was the judgment of Judge Williams, pronounced to Stillman's father.

Accompanied by a bailiff the Stillmans repaired to the lower floor. The bailiff returned later to inform the court that the sentence had been well executed.

Yegg Leaves Sign to Prevent Blast

Cottage Grove, Ore.—An unusually considerate yegg recently visited Cottage Grove.

"Danger, explosives!" was found scrawled on a sign on the door of a safe in a local bank when officers went to investigate suspicious noises. The safe was found to be already "snapped" ready for the opening blast. The safe cracker had evidently been frightened away by the approach of the officers and had left the sign to prevent casualties.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press.

Philadelphia.—Recent tales that Harvard was a nest of Bolshevism, President Lowell of Alma Mater being asked the French equivalent for middle-deck. The inquirer told that the expression was not English. Lowell insisted he wasn't interested in its meaning in English but desired to know its equivalent in French. "I don't think really there is any American for Bolshevism," Mr. Lowell concluded at a Harvard meeting here.

New York.—Miss Elizabeth Perkins, chairman of the executive committee of the film bureau, suspects that a lot of Bolsheviks will try to break up the first presentation of a movie of Edith Cavell about which there has been much ado. "We shall recognize these Bolsheviks, though, and tell them we have no tickets," she says.

Moscow.—Latest census figures of the Soviet Republics show 75,953,707 women and 71,010,659 men, including 17,158 women and 12,349 men more than 100 years old.

New York.—Unless the eight managers are kidding literature will have something to do with a feature display of the manly art. Eddie Kane says his fighter, Sammy Mandell, isn't allowed to read anything, while Jimmy McLarnin is represented as devouring all sorts of reading from comics to good books. Perhaps some of it kept Jimmy's weight down.

Washington.—Senator Norris of Nebraska has, or had, an idea that golf is the game of gray heads, bald heads and the aged. When he voiced his idea Senator Robinson of Arkansas defined the game as one that no old man ever learns and few young men master, and he added that Norris had missed something by not trying.

New York.—A Brooklyn fellow desired to change his name, had wedding invitations engraved, then applied for judicial permission. Justice Drubman ruled: "Anyone who could spell or pronounce the name Cyril Merrill would have no difficulty with Simon Minsky. The application is denied."

Denver.—Movies of family, home and friends are to be sent to Henry M. Blackmer, teapot dome figure, self exiled in France.

New York.—Word comes to friends that Percy Grainger, pianist, will be married to his bewitching, radiant Nordic Amazon, Miss Viola Strum, in the Hollywood bowl, which will seat thousands of persons.

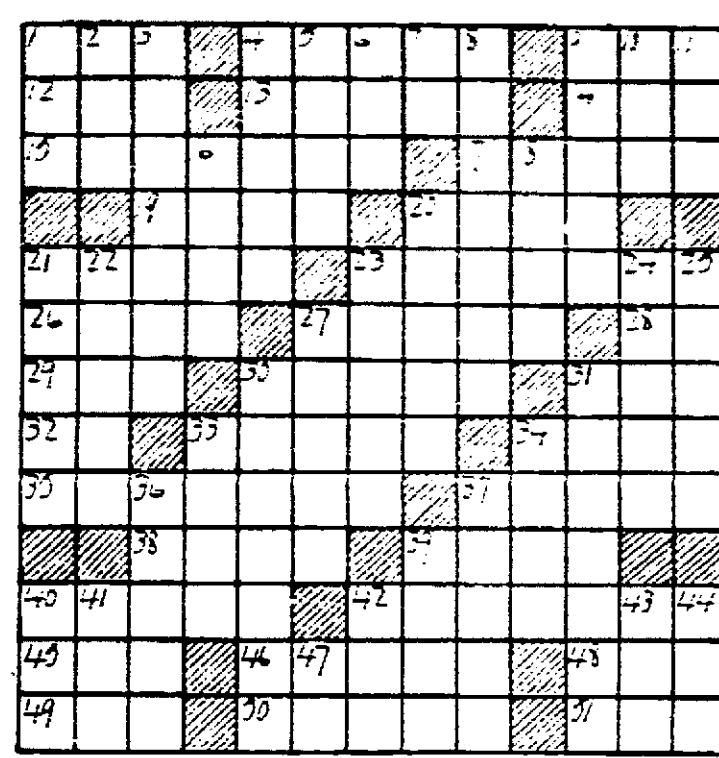

New Haven.—The son of the secretary of the treasury is a popular boy at Yale. So anxious were two senior societies to elect him that he got slips from a representative of each at the same time as soon as such method of indication of selection was permitted.

Mexico City.—One of the greatest hardships of Ambassador Morrow's life is now past. He is able to eat fried eggs again. He detests them boiled, scrambled, shirred, etc., but in his recent siege of influenza the doctor strictly forbade them fried.

Bourgeois a Town Dweller

The middle class, as a dominant social body, is a comparatively new thing, writes Gilbert Seldes in the Saturday Evening Post. From the days of Coriolanus to those of Louis XIV if you wanted to have any large group of people, you directed yourself to the swartie rubble, the great unwashed. The bourgeois of those times was, as the name indicates, a town dweller, a citizen, and what is more, he was usually a free citizen.

Worsted and Woollens

Generally speaking, worsted fabrics are made of yarns in which the fibers all lie parallel, and woollens are made of yarns in which the fibers cross or are mixed. Usually worsteds are made from long staple wools, and woollens are made from short staple wool.

Quick Sure Cold Relief ...or Your Money Back

We'll clear up that stuffiness and stop your headache... or this bottle of Mistol doesn't cost you a cent

You cold sufferers, here's some good news! It's the story of the quickest, surest cold relief you ever saw... And it's backed by an iron-clad guarantee.

Just go to your druggist... buy a bottle of Mistol... take it home and try it. If your cold isn't relieved at once... if your headache and stuffiness haven't disappeared in 24 hours or so, the druggist will cheerfully refund your money.

Just hand him the half-empty bottle and he'll pay you sixty-five cents.

We know that the instant you apply Mistol you'll see how good it is. It goes away back into the nasal passages. Attacks those cold germs. And right away your poor irritated membranes get soothed and serene.

Headaches disappear. Stuffiness and listlessness too. Tomorrow you'll be back on the job as energetic and healthy as ever.

It's not surprising that doctors endorse over Mistol. It's safe and scientific. It relieves colds without dosing, salves, or harmful drugs. As a matter of fact, Mistol success was built on medical recommendation.

So don't wait for your cold to "run its course." That's how folks get pneumonia. Stop it right away with Mistol and cross it off your list of worries. Remember, we stop that cold of yours... or it doesn't cost you a cent.

Get that bottle today. Gambling with your health is like playing with dynamite.

THE 24-HOUR COLD RELIEF

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

Good morning, motor!

'SORRY, BOSS, but it's not good morning for me. I'm sick. If you take me out today, you'll drive in second most of the time. I warned you. It's that cheap gas you've been buying. I'm as choked up with carbon as a kerosene lamp in a country store. My valves are about as tight as a broken sieve. Can't you grasp the idea that I'm as delicately adjusted inside as a watch? I get really peeved at the stuff you dump into me. Where do you get it, anyway? How much do you save? A few pennies—and then pay dollars to get me back into shape. And while I am getting this grouch out of my system, I want to say a word about oil. If I don't get a crank case full of good oil pretty soon, you'll be walking. I've been working for a week on nothing much but mud and gasoline. A wheelbarrow wouldn't stand for it. My bearings feel like sandpaper. I haven't enough compression to blow up a toy balloon. Treat me right and I'm good for another twenty thousand miles. Give me good gas and oil, Boss, please."

HAVE YOU TRIED SOCONY SPECIAL GASOLINE?

If you haven't, it's probably because of the stiff competition of the Socony Gasoline pump right alongside it.

It's pretty hard to convince a man who has been using Socony Gasoline for years with never a snort nor a splutter from his carburetor that he ought to pay a few cents more a gallon for something different.

However, if you have an old car or a new high compression motor and want to test the capacity of your engine on a particularly creamy cut of anti-knock gasoline, Socony Special is worth trying. It gives you a little better pickup in traffic, a little finer silk in the purr of your engine, and a stronger, more dogged flow of power on hills.

You may get along perfectly well without these "extras" but you can scarcely help enjoying them, and you surely will appreciate the absence of knocking.

Fill up your tank with Socony Special today. Like Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil it's tested thirteen times before it reaches your car.

Let your motor be the judge

"Y. M." Campaign Raises $16,998

The Y. M. C. A. Annual Maintenance Campaign went over the top with $16,998 to the good, as a result of a hard day's work by the men and the executive committee. With $1,600 to go, the men went out and worked hard and brought in $1,228, which added to the $500 that the executive committee had secured, made the total $16,998.

Starting with the reports of the boys and going right through the divisions the reports increased in strength until the last report was in and the grand total was announced amid cheers.

William C. DeWitt, acting in the absence of Charles Ramsey, who was unavoidably called from the city, awarded the permanent prizes for the campaign as follows:

To Clarence Rowland, as manager of the hustling Beaver Division, went the Stars and Stripes, as the reward for the best division total of the campaign.

"Happy" Harry Kirchner was awarded, on the behalf of his team, the famous Spitzerinkum Cup as the trophy given to the team securing the largest amount of subscriptions. This cup is to be engraved with the names of the various members of the team and will be placed in honor, in the Y. M. C. A. trophy case, and the team will have the privilege of defending their right to it, in the next campaign.

Frank Thompson, vice president of the Y. was crowned the King of the Gold Diggers because of his own individual effort in securing the largest amount of subscriptions by personal effort.

Frederick W. Snyder was given the Lone Ace pennant for his active work in securing 48 individual subscriptions. This was a close contest, for Ernest LeFever had secured 45 pledges by personal effort.

Clarence Rowland, on the behalf of the Fuller Shirt Company, presented Ernest LeFever with the best shirt makeable, for his efforts in securing the largest number of subscriptions on the last day of the campaign. While Chester Baltz presented Walter Elston with a pair of the best pajamas purchasable as a reward of Mr. Elston's efforts in securing the largest amount of money yesterday.

As a closing feature the following resolutions were presented by A. D. Rose, a trustee of the Y. M. C. A.:

The thanks of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. are sincerely extended to:

I. The newspapers of the city for very valuable publicity, the Daily Freeman and the Daily Leader.

President Charles Ramsey has issued the following statement to the workers and friends of the Kingston Young Men's Christian Association:

"I cannot express our joy and satisfaction over the victory again this year which has come because our organization and friends have worked hard and given generously."

"On the behalf of the Board of Directors, I wish to express a sense of obligation to promote the largest possible program on behalf of young men and boys during this coming year, and to assure you that every dollar invested will be spent in the most careful way possible."

The meeting closed by singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Narrow Colored Binding Affords Stripe Effect

Very narrow binding in colors to contrast with the gown or coat, giving the effect of a narrow stripe, are among the details that identify Paris spring costumes. They have largely replaced their tucks.

Applied bindings of almost unbelievable narrowness characterize the fashionable model. They are used to outline necklines, edge small collars and to call attention to the tiers which form entire skirts and half of sleeves. Skirt hems are seldom bound, however.

Sports Costumes Are 4-Piece

The classic sports costume of the year is the four-piece ensemble. A top coat without fur, a plaid skirt, a cardigan and jumper form the working principle of all these smart outfits, with the variance of the details. The ensemble is usually beige and brown tweed with a beige jersey pullover.

BELOVED CHICHESTER CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

(Contributed.)

Chichester was suddenly plunged into gloom when the sad news of the death of Mrs. George Chase spread through the little village where she was born and lived the major part of her earthly pilgrimage. For the most part, being of a cheerful nature, Mrs. Chase spread sunshine, not only in her immediate neighborhood, but wherever she chanced to pass. No one ever needed to wait for her in time of sickness or trouble when this truly kind and sympathetic soul was near at hand. Always ready and happy to minister to the needs of humanity, she finally sacrificed her life in persisting to answer the call of her chosen profession as nurse, even when her own physical condition called for similar care. Being physically run down she contracted the dread disease of pneumonia and after everything humanly possible was done to save her life, on Friday last her soul took its flight into immortality.

Mrs. Chase had hosts of friends as the immense assemblage at the funeral service indicated. Even those who were never privileged to closely share her friendship testily to her noble, generous spirit so often evident in times of stress and sorrow. Always devoted to her loved ones, she nevertheless found time to spread her sunshine and smile far beyond her immediate hearthstone.

The final services were held Sunday at her late home, the Rev. Mr. Osgood of the Wesleyan Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in the Shandaken Rural Cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Lee Breithaupt of Phoenixia. A woman of exceptional ability and talent, a devoted mother, a faithful wife, a loyal friend, a generous neighbor, a patriotic citizen, a genuine Christian, she has passed into the great beyond, but her memory lingers and will be held sacred as long as those who truly knew her heart and motives are privileged to survive. Deepest sympathy is extended to her family, her kindred and mourning friends.

Berea college is about to erect a tablet to the memory of Rubie Baker's mule, "Jing," which—or who in view of the new dignity—helped Rubie convert a mountain cesspool into a sanitary source of water supply. A lot of men have been commemorated in bronze for doing no more for humanity.

Because of increasing deer herds New Zealand plans to ship venison to this country. She says she could supply the United States with 100,000 carcasses of deer each year. By doing so New Zealand may save the lives of hunters who in years to come otherwise will look like a deer to somebody.

Some new-fangled scientific device is said to demonstrate that the appearance of the average face makes a noise like a peanut stand. Go on! We are thinking of one that, were this true, would make a noise like a boiler factory.

Turkish women having removed their veils are now reported to contemplate bathing suits and beauty contests. A small beginning may have large results in a region where proverbially gentlemen prefer brunettes.

No bright sayings by King Michael have recently been quoted. Possibly he is so preoccupiedly bright as to be intuitively aware that a truly wise king understands the art of prolonging occasional silences.

STUDY of VOLCANOES

"Cauliflower Cloud" During Eruption of Sakurajima, Japan.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

VOLCANIC eruptions and earthquakes, which for ages man believed to be the work of malignant demons or wrathful gods, are gradually yielding the secrets of their causes and processes to scientific investigators. It is in an effort to extend still further science's ability to understand these forces of nature, and even to forecast their appearances, that the National Geographic Society is sending an expedition this spring and summer to study intensively the conditions in one of the world's greatest volcanic regions, the smoking vents of the Alaskan peninsula and the Aleutian islands.

The studies will be conducted by Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, who has lived for many years in an observatory on the brink of the crater of Kiluea, studying that mighty volcano's moods as shown in the waxing and waning of its pits of molten lava. How it has already been possible with present knowledge to prophesy a volcanic eruption and so to save thousands of lives, is seen in the circumstances surrounding the eruption of Sakurajima, Japan, in 1914.

This greatest eruption in the annals of the island empire resulted in the loss of only 35 lives and some millions of dollars in property. Scientific investigation is, in large measure, to be credited with the relatively few casualties, for it was through the prediction of the imminence of the Sakurajima outbreak that the inhabitants of a populous district were enabled to flee from the wrath about to come.

It was through a study of premonitory earthquakes in their relation to volcanic outbreaks that the Sakurajima eruption was definitely predicted; conversely, it is hoped that, in time, through exhaustive study of volcanic activities, earthquakes may be predicted with accuracy. The phenomena of the Sakurajima eruption, therefore, are proving of transcendent importance to the scientific world, and the measures which were taken to safeguard life at that time are being eagerly studied anew.

The volcano of Sakurajima, shaped much like Vesuvius, rises to a height of 3,500 feet, directly opposite the city of Kagoshima, in Kagoshima bay—a tongue of water, extending some 50 miles into the southern end of Kyushu, the most southerly of the four main islands of the Japanese archipelago. Growths of young pine trees mark the course of old lava flows from the two main craters of the summit.

Warning of Sakurajima Outbreak.

Prior to the eruption of 1914, 18 villages, with an aggregate population of 22,000, industrious farmers and fishermen, nestled on the shores of this small volcanic island, which nearly filled the bay between Kagoshima and the Osumi promontory. The channel between the volcano and the city was barely two and one-half miles wide, with a depth of from nineteen to seventy fathoms, while that on the Osumi side was only one-third of a mile wide, with an average depth of more than fifty fathoms. Kagoshima, the thriving capital city of the province, with a population of 700,000, is the center of Sakurajima's volcanic activity and of a fertile farming region, producing tobacco, citrus fruit, and sugar cane.

Men of science had long known what lay in store for Kagoshima. Experience had taught observers that when "swarms" of earthquakes begin in the vicinity of an active volcano, the "underground dragon" is wakening and preparing to make trouble.

In 1900 and 1910 two writers published warnings that Sakurajima was likely to erupt explosively after violent premonitory earthquakes.

Mainfall during 1913 at Kagoshima had been unusually light, as had been the case ten years and twenty years previously, each of those dry years having been followed by some activity in one or more of the volcanoes on the island of Kyushu. Violent eruptions began in 1913, not at Sakurajima, but on Kirishima, where there were three outbreaks, the last two being on November 8 and December 9.

On Sakurajima, however, earthquakes began to occur in "swarms" and people began to jump. Three strong shocks were felt on the afternoon of January 10, followed in the evening by two more. The next morning there were three strong shocks, accompanied by rumblings, before sunrise. The earthquakes now became increasingly alarming. Growling noises preceded some and a roaring, as of escaping gas under pressure, followed others.

People Flee From Eruption.

Four hundred seventeen earthquakes were recorded at Kagoshima between 4 a. m., January 11, and 10 a. m., January 12, after which the main eruption of Sakurajima began. Counting the shocks of the 10th, which had begun about 1 p. m., there was immediate forewarning in noises and shakes for 45 hours prior to the explosion.

These warnings were heeded. Every available sampan scuttled with frantic speed, with a population of 70,000, and all day Sunday, January 11, moving the natives of the island, their belongings, boats, rice bays, and many birds, to the mainland. By Monday the army, navy and other government departments, railways and steamship lines were all helping. Sunday afternoon, about two o'clock, during a period of violent quaking, a report came from Tarami, southeast of Sakurajima, that white smoke was seen rising from the middle of the volcano. The Monday period of seismic activity was strikingly terminated and relieved by the volcanic outbreak of ten o'clock.

Sakurajima in the early morning had been veiled by a cloud, but the incessant din of rumbling diminished after 5 a. m. There may have been a summit landslide. Continual quick explosions were heard from nine o'clock on, and a small puff of white vapor was reported at that time; but it was not until ten o'clock, when all the fog clouds were dissipated, that the great volcanic drama unfolded under splendid photographic illumination.

The climax came at 10:05, when, in the middle of the side of the mountain toward Kagoshima, the awestricken people saw the hard profile of a swelling balloon of black smoke rise majestically from the ground where, an hour before, were orange orchards, terraced fields of sugar cane, and gardens of radishes. Ten minutes after the first outbreak a similar cauliflower column rose from the east flank of the volcano, but this was dwarfed by the towering western shaft with which it eventually merged.

With occasional lulls, but with ever-increasing violence, the booming concussions of the eruption grew more and more terrible. Flashes of lightning danced through the great billows of smoke and dust, and in the lower portion of the great, black column, vertical lines of upward streaming rocks, bombs, sand, and smoke, curling as high as the mountain itself, could be seen from time to time.

The fall of ash over the city of Ka-goshima began an hour and ten minutes after the eruption started, and continued intermittently until the following evening. At five o'clock in the afternoon the eruption waxed in fury. Extra-heavy earthquakes in the vicinity of Arima, on the southeast coast of Sakurajima island, were felt, and ships in the bay reported that the maximum heights of ejection of material were reached an hour later.

Fatalities in Kagoshima.

The crisis, which resulted in the only loss of life during the disaster, occurred at 6:25, when a terrific earthquake threw down walls and buildings at Kagoshima, dislodged houses from cliffs, and interrupted railway and telegraph services. Families were trapped in landslides, and a tidal wave, with a ten-foot swing, caused serious damage to small boats in the harbor. Thirty-five persons were crushed to death and 112 were injured. This quake is to be classed as a "world shaker," for it was recorded on seismographs in Europe.

The lava flows from the volcano had begun and the gas explosions had relieved the under earth of millions of tons of matter, so that this quake was probably the evidence of a deep movement, or settling, that had begun along the great chain of Izu-Kyu volcanoes, extending from Kyushu to Taiwan (Formosa) in a string of 300 miles to the southwest.

Simultaneously with the occurrence of the big quake a sudden lava flow was observed on the smoke coming from the volcano. This continued for some time.

The outbreak of January 12 was followed by months of intense activity. The lava overtopped new craters, poured into the sea, and created new islands.

BANKER IS SENT TO PRISON FOR KILLING FRIEND

Former Wealthy Financier
and Pioneer South Dakota
Now Occupies Cell.

St. Paul, S. D.—From the position of one of the leading bankers of South Dakota, with considerable personal wealth at his command, to a cell in the state penitentiary in Sioux Falls, marks the change in the fortunes of George H. Randall, aged sixty-seven. He was one of the pioneer residents of what now is South Dakota and during the height of his career as business man and banker he numbered his friends by the hundreds. He must serve a term of four years in prison for second degree manslaughter, having been convicted of administering poison to Ole Peterson Moen, seventy-one-year-old rancher and city property owner at Rapid City, just east of the Black Hills, so he could gain possession of the $35,000 estate of the dead man. Randall recently lost out in his attempt to obtain a new trial, and was immediately lodged in the state penitentiary.

Sensational Case.
The case has been one of the most sensational in the criminal history of South Dakota. Moen died in convulsions on September 19, 1927, and within a short time thereafter Randall offered for probate a will purported to have been executed by Moen, in which the dead man's estate was bequeathed to Randall.

Others had expected to inherit the property of Moen, who was without relatives in this country, and brought about an investigation which resulted

To a Cell in the State Penitentiary.

In the arrest of Randall on the charge of having killed the old man by placing poison in medicine which he was taking for a physical ailment.

Chemists examined the stomach of Moen and found sufficient strychnine to have caused his death. Their testimony had a great deal to do with the conviction of Randall when the case against him was tried. It was shown at the trial that Randall was a frequent caller on Moen at the boarding house where he lived, and had every opportunity to place the poison in his medicine without detection.

Suicide Defense.

It was urged in Randall's behalf at the time of the trial that Moen had committed suicide.

While the evidence against the accused was purely circumstantial, it was deemed sufficient by the jury to return a verdict of guilty. The term of four years to which he was sentenced was the maximum which could be imposed under state statutes for second-degree manslaughter.

In addition to having been engaged in the banking business for many years at Canova, S. D., Randall served as county treasurer of McCook county and in other positions of trust.

During recent years his once large fortune had gradually melted away through poor investments and in other ways, until at the time he was arrested on the poisoning charge, it was said, he was badly in need of money. If he really was guilty of the crime of which he was convicted it is thought his dire need of cash prompted him to hasten Moen's death so he could obtain possession of the estate and several thousand dollars which Moen had on deposit in banks.

FEDERATION EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The May meeting of the Executive Committee of The Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the Kingston City Library on Thursday afternoon. The chairman presiding. Following the routine business, resolutions on the deaths of Mrs. Tobey, Miss Haldane and Mrs. John Bodie, all individual members, held in high esteem, were offered and copies of the same were ordered sent to the families of those who had died.

It was moved to suspend action as to paying $25 dues to the State Federation, a raise from $5, until September, and in the meantime to learn if possible why so great a raise had been made.

In her report on Child Welfare work, Mrs. Thompson stated that the State Charities Aid Association was now caring for 42 children, of all ages from infancy to fourteen year-old children, and that gifts of new or outgrown clothing or clothing of adults suitable to remodeling for children, would be most acceptable. Any one having such garments to give may call up Mrs. Thompson, 443-M.

Following certain recommendations to the open meeting on Saturday afternoon the meeting adjourned, but not until announcement had been made by the Atharhacton Club that an entertaining Club they would present Miss Anne Byrne, at the open meeting on Saturday in the Chapel of The First Reformed Church. Miss Byrne will give a one-act play, "The Birds' Nest."

Unsung Reporter

While one of the easiest tasks imaginable is to go around picking out unsung heroes we have a set to add to the list. No group is doing better work in the field of American back writing than the anonymous scribes who give us our daily news. Most of these who have never labored over a story amid the machine-gun crackle of typewriters in an editorial room seem to feel that newspapers somehow get themselves written impersonally, says the Bookman. They are unable to visualize the sweat and profanity necessary to compose a passable story, the imagination and strife necessary to embellish drab incidents and sordid commonplaces in such a way that the story will catch the eye of the citizen at breakfast. Time was, of course, when the papers were written poorly enough to leave the impression that they were written impersonally. That time has changed. One cannot read a newspaper today without the feeling that the thing has been done by some fellow who ought to be rewarded, who deserves more of an ovation than he probably gets from a thousand widely distributed readers each moment for two hours after the paper is out.

Bomb Home Of Executioner

where of Family Thrown From Their Beds But Were Uninjured—Believe Bombing Was Done by Supporters of Sacco-Vanzetti.

New York, May 18 (AP).—The home of Robert Elliott, official executioner for five states and the man who pulled the death switch on Sacco and Vanzetti, was bombed this morning.

Elliott, his wife and two children were thrown from their beds by the explosion but were uninjured. The house in Queens Borough, Long Island, was badly wrecked. The front porch was torn away, the front door was blown in and every window was shattered.

Threats had been received by Elliott prior to the Sacco-Vanzetti execution and for a long time a police guard was maintained over his home. Since the guard had been removed, a policeman on that beat had instructions to keep a special watch over the Elliott domicile. Whether recent threats had been received could not be learned.

Elliott expressed the belief that the bombing was done by sympathizers of Sacco and Vanzetti, who were executed at Boston for the slaying of a paymaster.

Elliott and his wife were asleep in a rear room on the second floor of a two-story cottage when the bomb exploded. Their daughter, Gertrude, 17, was in an adjoining room while a son, Robert, Jr., 27, and a cousin, Thomas Lang, were in a room immediately over the porch. They were thrown out of their beds, but suffered only minor bruises.

Windows in houses for two blocks were shattered, and horses in a stable of the Sheffield Farms Milk Company several blocks away were thrown into panic, stampeding and returning several delivery wagons. Police were unable to find anyone who saw or heard those who placed the bomb. Members of the bomb squad from New York headquarters estimated the bomb had a time fuse and had been placed either on the porch of the house or under it a half hour before the explosion.

Elliott was appointed executioner of New York early in 1926. At the time he was executioner for Massachusetts, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and since has been appointed the same post by Delaware. He is
